

ITINERARY PUNO 3DAYS 2NIGHTS

Altitude:

Lima 154 mosl / Puno 3,830 mosl

Puno, land of magnificent blues and golds, lie son the Collao plateau where things are seen with such extraordinary Sharp detail that it almost hurts the eye. The inhabitants of Puno appear to be imbued with the same mystery of the deep waters of the majestic Titcaca Lake, the highest navigable lake in the world. Their clear, bright smiles on faces tanned chocolate by the sun, despite the extremes of the climate, reflect their deep faith, and their joy becomes infectious in their innumerable dances that wash the streets in every color during the Festivity of Candlemas. Only a few grand houses and Colonial churches remain as proof of the immense wealth produced by the silver mines in the 17th century. recently, Taquile’s picturesque textile art has been recognized by the Unesco as masterpiece of the Oral and Immaterial Patrimony of mankind.
